Health Care Organizations Collaborate to Launch Only Nurse Radio Venture in the Country

Masthead Date June 14, 2004

The New England School of Whole Health Education, in collaboration with several local and national health care and media organizations, announced the launch of nurseradio.org, the first and only nurse-focused radio show. The school is a nonprofit organization dedicated to celebrating the global contributions of nurses in patient care and providing a voice for today's nurses.
