NIWH Offers Scholarships

The National Institute of Whole Health (NIWH) has announced that all military spouses, regardless of their partners' military rank, are eligible for the NIWH military scholarship program. The scholarship may be used toward any of NIWH's educational programs.

The scholarship—$1,250—is good toward NIWH certification programs: Whole Health Educator, Whole Health for Nurses, Whole Health Nutrition Educator, and Whole Health Coaching certificates. Participants may also choose to enroll in NIWH's whole health certificate of study programs and receive a scholarship equal to 25 percent off the standard tuition. Programs in this course of study are designed to help the military spouse support his/her own member's personal health needs, including posttraumatic stress disorder and brain injuries. For more information, visit www.niwh.org or call 888-354-4325.
